

The Permafrost Young Researchers Network

The Next Generation of Permafrost ECRs

Alevtina Evgrafova¹; Simon Dumais²; Caroline Coch³; Justine Ramage³; Florence Magnin⁴; Denis Frolov⁵

¹University of Bern, Switzerland; ²Université Laval, Canada; ³Alfred Wegener Institute, Germany; ⁴University of Oslo, Norway;

⁵Lomonosov Moscow State University, Russia

What is PYRN?

- PYRN is an international network supported by the International Permafrost Association (IPA)
- PYRN fosters innovative collaboration and seeks to promote future generations of permafrost researchers
- PYRN provides a common forum and support activities to Young Permafrost Researchers in science and engineering
- PYRN is a self-organized network, structured in an executive committee, a council, and national representatives

PYRN membership is free!

2017 PYRN Activities

Upcoming EUCOP5 PYRN-Workshop

- June 22 Young Researchers BBQ ice-breaker
- June 23-24 PYRN-Workshop and local mountain excursion
- June 27 PYRN-Pétanque (French Boules) tournament and Tartiflette

www.eucop2018.sciencesconf.org

The PYRN-Workshop is free of charge, thanks to our partners and sponsors

Universität
franco-allemande
Deutsch-Französische
Hochschule

Main activities

- Informational support
 - ✓ Mailing list
 - ✓ Social media outreach
- PYRN Workshops
- Travel grants
- Student awards
- Social events
- National and regional branches
 - ✓ Funding allocation for national events

Get involved!
National Representatives & Executive Committee positions

Get in touch!

PYRNOfficial

@PYRN official

@PYRN official

pyrn.arcticportal.org

contact@pyrn.org

ArcticNet

ᐃᑭᐅᓴᑦᑕᓴᑦᑐᒻᑦ ᑐᑭᔪᓂᐘᓴᑦᑕᑦ